

Table I240

Description

The TB 1240 is a flexible two-part table composed of matching halves that can be used together or independently. Each section functions as a standalone piece or can be combined to create a larger surface, adapting easily to different room layouts.

Its rotatable design allows multiple configurations — align the pieces for an expanded tabletop, separate them to serve as side tables, or use one half as practical side storage. With its clean lines, balanced proportions, and minimalist construction, the TB 1240 offers a functional and contemporary solution that evolves with the needs of everyday living.
